

Technical Project Manager full-time

Verity Studios is creating a new breed of dynamic flying machines and related systems, leveraging technological innovation, scientific principles, advanced algorithms, and the art of design in unprecedented ways. We are excited about using technology to transform live entertainment and other industries, and we are growing the team.

As Verity Studios' flying machines come to stages worldwide and production volumes rise, we are seeking to complement our team with a highly motivated Technical Project Manager, who will support customers in bringing drone show systems to their venues, where they will be seen by millions. The successful candidate will support customers in planning, installing, and operating drone show systems, remotely and on site. The role will also include championing the customers' perspective within Verity Studios based on interactions with a multitude of customers. This position will require frequent travel to customers' sites.

Your tasks

- Technical and operational project management from concept discussions to on-site delivery
- Be the customer's contact point for all technical aspects
- Plan, install, verify, operate, and maintain the drone show systems
- Train drone show system operators and installation crews
- Contribute to and review user support documentation such as user manuals, operational guidelines; create safety assessments; determine relevant legislation and obtain relevant certifications/permits
- Provide issue reports and feature wishlists to the development team, based on customer interactions and on-site observations

Benefits

- Deliver ground-breaking technology to some of the world's most prominent stage productions
- Shape the culture and have a significant impact in a rapidly growing young company
- Work in an interdisciplinary, international team of highly skilled people

Prerequisites

- Experience in technical project management
- Technical degree
- Excellent written and spoken English
- Excellent team and communication skills
- Experience in the entertainment industry or in a customer-facing role a plus
- Structured, detail-oriented, proactive work style
- Willingness to travel
